RUSSIA PROVIDES interesting news daily.

The truthful Walter Duranty cables Adolph S. Ochs that Russia, using "extra-rich fertilizers," raise giant vegetables, 50-pound cabbages, tomatoes weighing 2 to 3 pounds each, egg plants one yard and a half long with plants 20 feet high, tobacco 6 feet high with 150 leaves to each stem, 7 tons of dried leaf to the acre.

Some of the vegetables are grown on "framework high above the weeds." The intensive fertilizing costs $350 an acre, but lasts five years—about $70 per acre. And the world will want to know that the Russian Burbank named Zolotof has produced an average of 5 tons of cotton to an acre, and our wheat and cotton yesterday dropped to new low prices.

The Muscle Shoals commission on Sept. 1 will receive bids for "lease and operation in the interests of fertilizer production and of agriculture."

Selling to farmers at reasonable price such concentrated fertilizers as they use in Russia. Instead of compelling farmers to pay freight on several hundred pounds of fertilizer stuff in order to get 100 pounds of fertilizer mixed with it, it might be Bolshevism, but it is the kind that would suit the farmer.

CHAPIN COLLINS of Montevideo, Wash., sends this to encourage ladies:

Years ago, William Moore, married a lady 16 years older than he. People said: "Too bad; he will have to take care of her when she is old."

Mr. Moore is now 84. His wife, who celebrated her 100th birthday anniversary on July 26, is taking care of him, an invalid.

She does all her housework, all the work in her vegetable and flower garden and finds life more interesting than ever.

Her father was a French-Canadian trader, with the Hudson Bay Co., her mother a Spokane Indian. When she was born Britain and the United States were disputing the Great Oregon country. California and the Southwest belonged to Mexico.

The lady has eight children, 10 grandchildren, five great grandchildren, three great great grandchildren by the first of two of her four husbands.

She married Moore 40 years after her third husband died and her motto is "nil desperandum."

Whether they make him president or not, the people will remember with admiration the news concerning Governor Roosevelt of New York. A former victim of infantile paralysis, now fortunately recovered, Governor Roosevelt has given to New York's department of health a pint of his blood to be used in combatting an outbreak of the dreadful infantile paralysis in New York City.

A SERUM made from the blood of those who have recovered from

LINDY'S SUPPLY SHIP IS HALTED IN FOG BLANKET

Cutter Northland Abandons Plans for Trip To Point Barrow

VACATION FLIERS SAFE AT AKLAVIK

May Fly Direct to Cutter At Icy Cape and Refuel There

(By Associated Press)

SEATTLE, Aug. 5.—Blanketed by a dense fog, 24 miles west of Icy Cape on the Arctic shore, the U. S. coast guard cutter Northland, carrying fuel for Col. and Mrs. Charles A. Lindbergh on their vacation trip to the Orient, today abandoned any hope of reaching Point Barrow in time to meet the fliers.

Coast guard headquarters were advised by the Northland that the fog, continuous for several days, prevents the vessel from finding a way through the ice off Blossom Shoals. Point Barrow is about 150 miles north of the cape.

Should the Lindberghs arrive before the Northland reaches Wainwright, about 45 miles north of Icy Cape, the coast guardmen plan to hand over the fuel in the vicinity of the cape or in a lagoon, depending upon weather conditions.

"It would be impossible for the vessel to reach Point Barrow until we have several days of shore wind," the message received here said. The wind would open a lane in the ice through which the cutter might find her way to her destination.

LINDBERGH AT AKLAVIK

Flying Vacationists Complete 1,115 Mile Hop From Baker Lake

AKLAVIK, Northwest Territories, Canada, Aug. 5.—Col. and Mrs. Charles A. Lindbergh landed here at 3:05 a. m., Pacific coast Standard time (6:05 a. m., Salem time today) completing a 1,115 mile flight from Baker lake.

The flying Lindberghs left Baker lake at 6:35 p. m., Eastern Standard time, last night. The hop to their last Canadian stop took approximately eleven and one-half hours.

Word of their arrival was sent over a chain of radio stations along the Mackenzie river to Edmonton, Alta.

Point Barrow, northernmost tip of Alaska, had been set for their next stop on their vacation trip to the Orient, but due to ice conditions, it was doubtful if the U. S. coast guard cutter Northland, carrying fuel and supplies for the plane, would be able to reach the little settlement in time to meet the fliers.

In such case, the Lindberghs might fly directly to the cutter and refuel there. The Northland is now at Icy Cape, about 150 miles south of Point Barrow.

PREMIUM LIST IS ANNOUNCED

Colubiana County Fair To Open Sept. 15; Ends Sept. 18

LISBON, Aug. 5.—The premium list for the annual fair of the Colubiana County Agricultural society has been issued by Secretary H. E. Marsden. The fair will be held four days and nights this year opening Sept. 15 and closing Sept. 18.

Entries Close Sept. 8

Entries on show horses, cattle, sheep, swine and poultry will close at 2 o'clock the evening of Sept. 18, and an entry fee of 10 per cent will be charged on all livestock classes, excepting poultry. It has also been determined by the fair board that all entries must be on the grounds and arranged in their proper places before 4 o'clock the opening day.

The fair board is composed of J. Ellsworth Rice, Lawrence H. Copeland, J. M. LeVan, William H. Travis, George A. Rogers, G. Cecil Rauch, J. Howard Sinclair and Frank C. Bowman. The vacancy on the board created by the recent death of Frank Dickey of Liverpool township will not be filled until the annual election next November.

Total Receipts $18,268

Admission fees last year, according to the financial statement of the society, totaled $10,027, and the revenue from the grandstand was $800. The total receipts for the last fair was $13,268 and expenditures an item of $1,000 for special street assessment.

This payment will soon be eliminated, as it has been extended over a period of years and had to do with the brick surfacing of Jerome st. extending past the fair grounds, and a section of the Lisbon-Leontia-Columbiana road. There are 647 members of the society, an increase of 214 over the 1930 membership.

Granted Degree

INA CLAIRE, stage and screen actress, was granted a divorce in Los Angeles today from her romantic movie actor husband, John Gilbert. The decree ended an "ideal romance" that was climaxed by an airplane elopement of Miss Claire and Gilbert in May, 1927. Habitual cruelty which resulted in "mental pain and suffering" was charged by Miss Claire.

TRACK OWNERS APPROVE PLANS TO FIX STREET

City Council, However, to Ask Formal Abandonment of All Rails

Permission to improve South Broadway by resurfacing the street over tracks abandoned by the Youngstown and Ohio River Railroad company was granted city council in its meeting Tuesday night through a letter received from Briggs and Turivas, Inc., of Chicago, the line's present owners.

Want All Abandoned

Council, however, voted to delay improvement of the Chicago concern. Council Clerk J. A. Eckstein was instructed to write the owners, asking them to abandon all their tracks here.

Briggs and Turivas, responding to a request received from City Solicitor Cecil K. Scott, gave council permission to pave over the tracks on South Broadway and also announced that they waive all privileges of ownership to tracks extending south of East State st. The tracks on East Second st were not included.

The owners will be asked to give up the East Second st tracks before council proceeds with the South Broadway paving. Action in the matter is expected at the body's next session, Tuesday, August 18.

Clears Way

The request is made in order to clear the way for improvement of East Second st, should such a project be brought before the legislators in the future, Scott stated. Complete abandonment is also desired to permit council to take over all tracks in one ordinance, the solicitor said.

Two Brothers Hurt in Fall

Paul and Clinton Boals Hit Street As Vehicle Rounds Turn

Two Salem men were seriously injured when they fell from a truck as it rounded a corner near the Pennsylvania Railroad company freight depot at 3:30 p. m. Tuesday.

They are Paul Boals, 16, and Clinton Boals, 24, brothers, employees of the Famous Dairy company. They are in City hospital suffering from serious injuries about the head, face and body.

The two were assisting in the unloading of a car of salt at the freight depot and were returning to the Famous Dairy. Both were standing in the rear of the truck, driven by Fred Bichsel, brother of Harry W. Bichsel, general manager of the Dairy company.

The truck was being turned onto North Elsworth ave by Bichsel when it struck a bump, both brothers being thrown from the vehicle into the street. They struck their heads on the brick pavement, police say.

The condition of Paul, who is suffering from serious head injuries, bruises about the shoulders and a badly injured face, was reported to be good by hospital attendants today. Clinton's condition is reported fair. He sustained more serious injuries about the head and face.

City To Charge For Township Fire Runs

The Salem fire department will, after Sept. 1, furnish no free fire protection to residents of Perry township, members of city council voted at their meeting Tuesday night.

Under plans presented by council, Clerk T. A. Eckstein was instructed to write the township board of trustees and inform residents of the township that free protection will no longer be provided them.

Trustees will be asked to make arrangements with the department by which a reasonable charge will be made for alarms answered in the township.

CHRISTIAN CHURCH BIBLE SCHOOL PICNIC WILL BE HELD AT CENTENNIAL PARK, FRIDAY AFTERNOON AND EVENING, AUGUST 7. COVERED DISH SUPPER AT 6 O'CLOCK. ICE CREAM WILL BE FURNISHED.

LOSCHKY WILL TOP DEMOCRATS' PRIMARY SLATE

Engineer's Name To Be Written In On Ballots August 11

L. C. Loschky, 339 North Lundy ave., will be the Democratic party's candidate for the mayoralty nomination at the primary election next Tuesday, it was announced today.

Loschky, formerly employed at the Electric Furnace company as mechanical and structural engineer, has resided in Salem for four years, coming to this city from Barborton where he was prominent in Democratic party activities. He was secretary of the Barborton Democratic club.

Conduct Campaign

Friends who are backing Loschky in the race are conducting an extensive campaign in his behalf, requesting voters to write his name in on ballots which will be presented them at the primaries. One per cent of the total vote cast by Democrats during the day are necessary for his nomination.

Loschky is unopposed for the Democratic nomination.

He is 38 years old and married. His wife was also prominently connected in Democratic party activities at Barborton, she and her husband serving for several years on the Summit county election board as registrar judges.

Build Up Ticket

In announcing Loschky's candidacy, Democratic leaders here said that names of other candidates may also be written in on ballots at the primaries. As complete a ticket as possible will be arranged in this manner, they said.

While Republicans will present an almost complete ticket which includes contests for several offices, Democrats have arranged candidates for only four of the 12 offices. Leaders of the latter party held a short caucus Tuesday night in which they made plans for the primaries.

POLICE HOLD 100 IN CUBAN STRIKE

Four Persons Wounded in 24-Hour Walkout At Havana; Arrange Plans for Second Strike

HAVANA, Aug. 5.—Havana's 24-hour general strike was ended today with more than 100 persons under arrest, four persons wounded and probabilities that a new walk-out would be initiated within the next few days.

Bombing of street cars, exchange of shots between policemen and some of the 40,000 strikers, dissolution of groups by police and detention of laborers for carrying arms marked Havana's share of the strike involving 12 to 15 of Cuba's larger cities.

In addition to explosives placed in three street cars, a blast was set off around the corner from the newspaper Heraldo de Cuba, injuring a photographer. Other bombs were placed in the residence of Representative Antonio Zorillo and in a room of the Hotel Perla de Cuba. Damage in both cases was slight.

Juvenile Is Held

CLEVELAND, O., Aug. 5.—Police were holding for juvenile court a 14-year old boy who climbed a southside school waterspout, entered the building and broke 15 thermometers with damage estimated at $300.

He told police he wanted the quicksilver to polish a penny—but he failed to catch any.

Patriotic Groups Plan Picnic Aug. 12

Plans were completed for the annual picnic of Salem's patriotic organizations at a meeting of representatives of the orders Tuesday evening at G. A. R. hall, East State st.

Lindberghs' Northern Most Point

A general view of all that composes Point Barrow, Alaska, the little, isolated town on the rim of the Arctic, which is the northernmost point on the route Col. and Mrs. Charles Lindbergh planned on their flight to the Orient, is shown above. To reach this outpost of civilization on the North American continent, the Lindberghs had to traverse miles upon miles of barren wilderness in Canada and Alaska. The intrepid flying couple is shown at right with their powerful Lockheed Sirius plane at left.

ATLANTIC CITY, N. J., Aug. 5.—Five Cubans and an American were arrested as they stepped from a speedboat at the steel pier today. Police are holding them as the remnants of a band of 150 men engaged in a Cuban revolutionary plot who made a secret dash from New York last night to board a ship off the Jersey Coast.

The body of Paul H. Smith, 42, former Columbiana county recorder, was found in a grove off the Lisbon-Elkton rd, a half-mile west of the East Liverpool-Youngstown highway, at 5:15 a. m. today. He left his father's home at 5:30 and was not seen again until his body was found by a searching party this morning. Mrs. Helen O'Brien, Smith's sister-in-law, chief clerk in the county board of health office in Lisbon, her daughter, Mrs. Catherine Reading, and a friend, Thomas Langley of Warren, composed the searching group. They went to Warren late last night, then searched roads in the vicinity of the county seat throughout the night. Shortly after 5 a. m. today the trio drove out the Lisbon-Elkton rd, and sighted the sedan owned by the former recorder, parked in the grove. Langley walked to the car, found no one in it, then continued the search, to discover Smith's body 30 feet away. Deputy Sheriff George Hays was called, following which Coroner Sturgis was notified. Likes Morrow

BEVERLY HILLS, Cal., Aug. 4.—See by the paper this morning they formed away out here in Sacramento, Cal., a "Draft Dwight Morrow for President" Club.

Well, I hope he makes it. All I want out of it is the ambassadorship to Mexico. (Don't laugh. You haven't seen all our ambassadors lately, have you?)

I could get away with that job. For Morrow could tell just what to do and who to do it to. I could attend the dinners and bull fights and make speeches to both and listen without laughing (much) to the Americans saying we got to take this country over and civilize it like ours. Like ours—Ha, Ha.

Yours,

RIOTS IN CHICAGO

A riot is a thing of serious significance any time, any place. The riot in Chicago last Monday night, the three men who were killed, the four who were wounded, the order
for mobilized troops to stand ready,
the continuing unrest in the district where the riot occurred—these are present facts that cannot be glossed. Riots mean trouble.

A riot is an effect, demanding identification of a cause. In Chicago, the report says, two policemen, two bailiffs and a real estate agent evicted a tenant. Word of their action spread to a nearby park where a crowd of Communist sympathizers was organizing a parade. The crowd, or a portion of it, charged the policemen and the bailiffs. There was hand-to-hand fighting.

Reserves were called out. When order had been restored three men,
members of the crowd, were dead.
Many combatants were injured.
One policeman had sustained a fractured skull when he was beaten unconscious and his head battered on the pavement. That was the riot
—the effect. What was the cause?

Men were dissatisfied, hungry, unemployed and stirred to the point of action by their sympathy with a political doctrine that can promise everything to everybody because it never has been put to proof. The eviction process was something the members of the Chicago mob could attack to show their dissatisfaction. It was a manifestation of the system under which they had not prospered. A riot is inevitable when an angry crowd is given such an objective. It follows, of course, that the Chicago riot
could have been avoided by discretion and tact on the part of the policemen, the bailiffs and the real estate agent, but those admirable qualities quite frequently are absent in men who need them most.

The fact, which cannot honestly be avoided, is that a Chicago crowd was desperate enough to engage in battle with the police. Humanitarian people who instinctively dislike such disastrous displays of violence must remove the causes, so that there will be no provocation
for riots—in Chicago, in every place where men may become desperate from hunger and discontent.

PLAN SATURDAY AHEAD
Pleasant experiences make a pleasant life.

At the Akron airport Saturday
a mighty airship will be launched. It will be the largest lighter-than-air craft in the world, larger than either the Los Angeles and Graf Zeppelin, and even bettering the huge R-100. Its launching will be a great event.

This huge ship, which enables the United States to move into first place among the nations competing in the development of lighter-than-air craft, will be a common object of admiration over the entire world.
For two years, since November, 1929, when the master ring of its complicated structure was laid, it has been a topic of conversation. It is, beyond any doubt, one of the foremost symbols of mankind's capacity to master material energy and divert it to his purpose.

The launching of the Akron, as it has been named in honor of the city whose labor and industrial equipment have been employed to build it, is an event reflecting credit on this state. Ohio claims in a general way the resourcefulness and far-sightedness which Akron has exercised liberally to become the world center of the lighter-than-air craft construction industry. The state is proud of Akron.

Plan ahead for Saturday. An event of world-wide importance is going to take place at the Akron airport, and you'll be glad in future years to be able to say you were there. There will be tens of thousands of others, to be sure, gathered to see the Akron and, perhaps, to catch a glimpse of Mrs. Herbert Hoover, who will stand sponsor at the launching ceremonies, but the huge crowd helps make the occasion. There will be plenty of room for everyone, and more significance than could be expressed without writing a history of man's long fight to accomplish such a seemingly task as the construction of an airship more than one-seventh of a mile long.

What Others Say

DICTATING TERMS TO GERMANY

The appointment of Albert H.
Wiggin, for many years head of the Chase National bank, to be a member of the committee which will endeavor to show Germany the way to salvation involves this country
further in European financial affairs. Wiggin will not represent the federal reserve system or the government of the United States. He will represent the great private banking interests upon which Germany will have to depend ultimately for the relief she asserts is necessary.

The immediate problem of the committee of which Wiggin is a member is to study Germany's credit and financial needs, and to float a long term bond issue to meet them. The London conference accomplished little or nothing in that direction because at that time Germany had not instituted sufficient economic reforms to make her a good credit risk.

In the week or so that has elapsed since that time Germany has endeavored to put her house in order.
Through the cooperation of a number of financial institutions, a special guarantee bank has been created to give added security to deposits and to discourage the export of capital which threatened for a little while to undermine the entire financial structure.

Wiggin and others like him know what Germany needs to do to meet her difficulties. They will advise her to curtail public expenditures and to balance her budget, to look more to herself and less to outside assistance and, above everything else, by sound fiscal practice to overcome the impression which prevails far and wide that she is not trying.

Wiggin is on record as favoring a reduction in the war debts. Under ordinary circumstances he would be expected to favor modification of the Young plan.

But leading bankers of the world
will not be inclined to set the stage for Young plan revision until they have assurance that Germany means business and will do no more crying. Since Germany is dependent upon them for immediate assistance, better than any one else they are in a position to name the terms
on which it will be available.

The plan which they will formulate is likely to be of great international development since the Dawes plan was modified. — Cleveland

NEW YORK
Day by Day

by O.O. McIntyre

CANNES, Aug. 5—This is a perky little Paris by the sea and the beginning of the Riviera—that is the Riviera of swarming hotels, millionaires and their paramours, fashion, pseudo-plutocracy and a dumping ground for scrobbie outcast royalty from all points of the compass.

While not so international a high spot as Monte Carlo, it nevertheless offers a mixing of races. This morning on the Croisette, the promenade, I saw a Maharajah in all his trappings, an Egyptian in Bond street clothes and his trailing wife
in native vails, a bearded turbaned Moroccan and an American newsboy.

But chiefly the crowds are Anglo-American. American bars are as thick as flies around balconies. English is spoken everywhere and it is the most consciousness gyp joint on either side of the Atlantic. The clientele is mostly saps whose ideas of life are food, wine, gambling and rubbing shoulders with minor royalty.

In New York we call the same outfit "cafe society." No other spot on the Cote d'Azur exacts so much tax impudence from visitors.
Taxis charge what they please and you pay or go to the hoosegow. The whole town is in league to fleece and they snip a wicked pair of shears.

Cannes boasts it garages more Rolls, Hispano and other luxury cars than any resort in Europe. The concierge tells me an Indian prince whose yacht is in the harbor
brought ten various makes of cars along for his month's outing. That's princing!

Whatever one may think of the section, motoring on the encircling hills is unsurpassed although natural scenic beauty is being roughed up by offensive display of advertisements. One, incidentally, on a giant rock heralds a "Dinty Moore corn beef and cabbage" dinner.

Cannes was the accidental discovery of an English Lord, who fleeing the rigors of a London winter, was stopped here on way to Italy by a quarantine. The town was then a mere clump of fishing shacks. The visitor built a villa, found the climate salubrious and voilà!—the Riviera was launched.

Before lunch we motored along a bristling pine-plumed slope for about 12 miles to Grasse, center of French perfume making. Although a lover of perfumes, the visit dampened my ardor. Five miles away the air was surcharged with a heavy and to me funeral fragrance, suggesting an undertaking parlor. Yet
I got off a good one when I said to my wife: "I would like to turn back. But if you wish you can go to Grasse." Always a one-merry and bright!

In the neighborhood are 10,000
acres of roses, tuberose, jasmine, violets, pinks, orange blossoms and such. From the petals various scents are made. Most plants are abandoned monasteries and convents filled with a disarray of un-tidy workers, filthy with grime and sweat. A few peeks and all the exotic romance of perfume vanished for me.

A slatternly cicerone with two chin warts guided us through room after room. There was a confusing blur of flowers being desecrated by wretched hands. Stripped petals are tossed into baskets and then into vats of boiling and messy fat—I thought of the Chicago stockyards.
In this way the essence is condensed and refuse fat is made into dainty soap sold for 60 cents a bar
along rue de la Paix.

Each season a total of 700,000 tons of flower petals are turned into exquisite essence. A dozen tons

are often needed for a single liter of the expensive essences. But it was worth the drive when returning we turned abruptly into a plateau that offered the most exciting view seen in Europe. Below was the expanse of aquamarine blue fringed with pearly sand and dimpled with red roofs. For miles each way the winding shores con-qu coasted with the glistening sea in a riotous burst of splendor. Such views stimulate my faith in immortality more than all the books and sermons. I drove silently homeward determined to be a better boy. Even before dinner I wrote a long letter to the folks.

But I hopped from the cloud
back at Cannes when I got my bill.
Never was so much larceny packed on a small sheet. For instance: To maid for turning down bed covering—five francs fifty. I'd turn down a bed and chop the kindling for that.

the disease is found to be the best remedy.

THE GOVERNMENT having proved that running ships is one of several things it does not know how to do, is about to dispose of some shipping. It is understood that Kermit Roosevelt and Vincent Astor in the east and a western group, the Dollar Line interest, Herbert Fieishacker of San Francisco and others, will make bids. The government of course will make no sale that would, now or later, involve foreign control of these American ships or a foreign flag over them.

What the government doesn't know about ships has cost the people about 1,000 million dollars. But we know at least that they ought to have some ships.

Transatlantic ship lines issue new rates. First class to Europe $155 in winter, "third class" $73. "Third class" might be left out of rates on American ships.

Kermit Roosevelt, son of the president, and his associate, Vincent Astor, and others, set a good example by running good ships to Europe all one class, fare $100.

RIOTING IN CHICAGO'S Negro quarter with several killings and 150,000 Chicago Negroes asking for protection should cause hard thinking by those responsible for law and order.

When the Empire State building was dedicated in New York, Frederick Ecker, head of the Metropolitan Life Insurance Co., an able man acquainted with American conditions, said the country was to be congratulated on having gone through two years of depression "without violence."

Let us hope that condition will continue. Dispatches from Chicago say "40,000 or 50,000 Negroes are enrolled as Communists," but the Communism is more or less imaginary and the 50,000 definitions of the word would be enlightening. Unemployment and poverty provide a good seed bed for Communism temporarily.

Still Playing King

Although no longer entitled to the designation "His Majesty," former King Alfonso, of Spain, still receives the plaudits of those whose blood is not so blue in a manner befitting a king. Alfonso is pictured above with Queen Victoria for the first time since they fled from Madrid at the outbreak of the revolution. They are shown being greeted by loyal friends when they appeared at the recent tennis matches at Fontainebleau, France.

Airplane Elopement Of Film Stars Ends In Divorce Court

Ina Claire Granted Decree In Los Angeles; Gilbert Wanted "To Be Alone"

(By Associated Press)

LOS ANGELES, Aug. 5.—The airplane elopement of Ina Claire, stage and screen actress, and John Gilbert, romantic movie actor whose marriage was termed the "ideal romance" has crashed in the divorce courts.

Actress Granted Decree Yesterday on a charge of mental cruelty, saying Gilbert told her they were temperamentally unsuited to each other and that he wanted to be left alone.

Although a private hearing had been sought, news of the case became public and spectators trooped into Judge Joseph Sproul's chambers.

Miss Claire's low-voiced testimony followed closely the charges of the complaint, asserting a "course of habitual cruelty which resulted in great mental pain and suffering."

Gilbert, who eloped by airplane with Miss Claire, in May, 1927, did not attend the hearing. "You say he requested you to leave home?" Judge Sproul asked leaning forward.

"He did," whispered Miss Claire.

DO-X TAKES OFF ON U. S. JOURNEY

Leaves Rio de Janeiro For Bahia; 10 Passengers Making Trip

RIO DE JANEIRO, Aug. 5.—The German flying boat DO-X took off toward Bahia at 6:36 a. m. (4:36 a. m. in Salem) today on her way to the United States.

She was in command of Lieut. Clarence H. Schildhauer, U. S. N., and carried ten passengers, four for New York, one for Miami and five for Brazilian ports. There were two women aboard, Mrs. Clara Adams, American, and Frau R. Clausen, wife of one of the German pilots.

The giant-scaup, largest of the world, arrived here June 20 after a 1,400 mile flight across the south Atlantic from the Cape Verde islands to Fernando Noronha, off the coast of Brazil. She left Altenrhein, Switzerland, in November, 1930, and traveled by short stages, often interrupted by accidents, across western Europe and down the coast of West Africa.

"He said we were temperamentally unsuited to each other and....."

Newspaper cameras clicked. Flashlight bulbs flared. The actress' voice increased to a rich contralto.

"He said he wanted to be left alone. He was very irritable and moody. I attempted, then and there, to pacify the aforesaid defendant, and restore peace and harmony in our lives, but....."

Live With Friends

Miss Fanny Holtzmann, New York, attorney for Miss Claire, prompted her—"You went to live with friends?"

"I did. I tried to get John to come back, but he said I was a woman with too much intellect—whatever he meant by that."

Gilbert said later that no property settlement, in the usual sense of the term, had been agreed upon.

"She has been more than fair in every way," Gilbert said. "She voluntarily signed away, one year after our marriage, all rights to my property."

The divorce ended the third marriage of Gilbert, and the second of the actress.

Cod Liver Oil In Baby's Diet

It is now an accepted fact most babies will benefit if cod liver oil is given regularly before the end of the first month of life. In fact, it has been recommended by many authorities that the use of cod liver oil should begin by the end of the second week.

Rickets is, as a rule, a condition that starts early, in the first months of life. It appears when the baby is growing most rapidly. Unfortunately, it may not be recognized until quite late, indeed not until weakness of the muscles and deformity of the bones become conspicuous. It is a condition that may occur in breastfed, as well as in artificially fed babies.

Babies with rickets become restless, irritable, pale and constipated. The resistance of the infant is lowered. He becomes more susceptible to such infections as bronchitis and pneumonia.

The underlying disease may be entirely cured or prevented by giving the baby sufficient direct sunlight, or by giving cod liver oil. It is advised that both be employed.

Cod liver oil prevents rickets. It strengthens the baby's muscles and his bony framework. Similar to the action of sunlight, it supplies the necessary vital force to prevent the disease.

Cod liver oil is particularly useful in climates where children do not receive sufficient sunlight. Where there is lack of sunlight, it is best to give it regularly twice a day. This preventive may well be given throughout the first two years of the child's life.

You may begin giving this medication in half teaspoonful doses twice a day. By the end of six weeks, the amount may be increased to one teaspoonful twice a day and by the end of three months, to one and one-half teaspoonfuls twice a day. At about the fourth month the amount may be increased to two teaspoonfuls twice a day and this dosage may be continued through the first two years.

Premier at "Mike"

An excellent character study of M. Venizelos, Prime Minister of Greece, pictured when he made his address at Newstead Abbey, Nottingham, England, gives a clear cut idea of the statesman who has guided his country's ship of state through perilous waters. This particular occasion was the presentation of the Abbey to the Lord Mayor and the citizens of Nottingham. M. Venizelos made the presentation speech.

creased to two teaspoonfuls twice a day and this dosage may be continued through the first two years.

M. E. D. Q.—Is a tired, dizzy, feeling in the morning due to constipation?

A.—Yes, possibly.

The Stars Say—

For Thursday, August 6

While the general state of affairs will be lively and eventful, with a favorable trend to purely independent projects, there is a decided hint of inharmonious, hazard and uncertainty in the employment of others or in the approach to superiors or those in power or authority. Writings, publishing or promotions should flourish, but otherwise finances are in peril. The personal relations may be intriguing, develop subtle or curious tendencies, but may be gratifying and flourishing. Romantic possibilities are stressed.

Those whose birthday it is may look for a thriving and progressive year, with much of a constructive nature in connection with their individual and independent activities, but they may find difficulty and peril in relations with employers or those in high places. The personal affiliations may be touched with subtlety, intrigue, or romance of a curious or idealistic nature. A child born on this day should be versatile and brilliant intellectually, romantic, idealistic and enterprising. It should succeed in letters. Notable nativity: Tennyson, poet.

JULY WEATHER GOOD FOR CROPS

Wheat Heaviest In County for Many Years, Copeland Says

MILLPORT, O., Aug. 4.—Temperature during July in Columbiana county was three degrees above normal, according to Cooperative Weather Observer Lawrence H. Copeland. The mean maximum temperature for the month was 85.5 and the mean minimum was 60.4. Mean was 73.1 and the maximum of 96 degrees was recorded July 2.

The minimum of 44 degrees was July 12, and the greatest daily range of 36 degrees was recorded July 16. Precipitation totaled 2.83 inches with the heaviest rainfall July 21 when .96 inches registered.

There was rain seven days last month, with three cloudy days, 19 partly cloudy days and nine clear days. Thunder storms were recorded July 11, 19 and 31.

PAUL H. SMITH POISON VICTIM

Discovery Made Near Lisbon - Elkton Road by Searchers

The body was removed. The shotgun, unloaded, was found in Smith's automobile. Marks on the man's neck first inclined authorities towards the theory that death had resulted from a self-inflicted bullet wound but on investigation it was revealed that they had been caused by his fall to the ground.

Smith was born in St. Clair township and was a resident of Lisbon and vicinity until he went into business in Warren. His visit to the county seat, friends said, was made to arrange plans for moving to Warren town.

He was one of the first conductors ever employed by the now abandoned Youngstown & Ohio River Railroad company and later entered politics.

He was member of Leetonia lodge P. & A. M.; Salem chapter No. 94, Omega council 44, Salem, Iva chapter, Order of Eastern Stars, of which his widow, Mrs. Agnes Smith, is past worthy matron, and a member of the Lisbon Kiwanis club.

He is survived by his widow; a son, Robert; his parents, Mr. and Mrs. Edward Smith; and five brothers, Wilmer of York, Pa., and John, Kenneth, Wilson and Russell, all at home.

Funeral services have not been arranged.

Funeral service will be held at 2:30 p. m. Friday at the Lisbon Presbyterian church in charge of Rev. J. M. Cotton. Burial will be made in Lisbon cemetery.

New York Cops Pound Air Beats To Save Lives, Enforce Aerial Laws

Eight Pilots, 16 Mechanics of Gotham Police Patrol of Skies Make Six Daily Trips About Metropolis and Vicinity to Safeguard Public from Reckless Fliers and Rescue Those in Distress.

AIR POLICE UNIFORM

NEW YORK POLICE PLANE

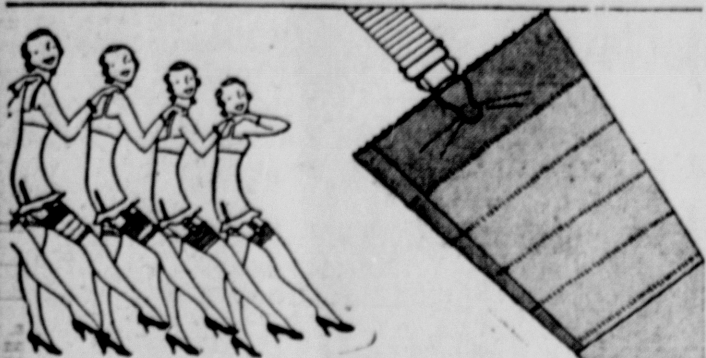

Unheralded and unsung, the real "fly cops" of the New York Police Department are rendering a real service to the metropolis which they guard from the skies. While "fly cops" have been known by jokesters for years, it is still news to many people, even in Gotham, that there are four planes, manned by eight expert pilots and mechanics, guarding their welfare a long way up. Engaged in patrolling the city and surrounding waters from the sky on six daily trips of about 120 miles each, the aerial beat pounders of the "Finest" watch for planes breaking the regulations of the Federal and State Governments. They watch for drowning bathers at the far-reaching beaches, scan the waters over which they fly for capsize boats and any craft in distress. In short, the bluecoats in the sky, drawing the same pay as their comrades far below them, strive to render the same service which any efficient copper is proud to do. Through the courtesy of the Air Division, the writer and a photographer were taken on a typical sky patrol by Pilot Terranova and Mechanic-Observer Sullivan, who explained their work en route and proved, conclusively, just how valuable their novel unit is to New York's millions.

Today's Pattern

Now that particular emphasis is being placed on long sweeping lines,
the designers are presenting many new versions of the always popular princess frock. This one is a very successful model. In the front it is divided into long, slightly fitted panels, flattering to every figure,
and in the back it becomes less princess but equally flattering, faintly bloused above a loosely tied belt. The circular flounce at the hem makes the whole dress more slender and graceful. Eyelet embroidery is a charming summer
choice for this frock, or silk crepe,
printed georgette or voile.

Pattern 1969 is obtainable only in sizes 14, 16, 18, 20, 22, 24, 26, 28, 30 and 32. Size 16 requires 3 1/2 yards of 39 inch material. Yardage for every size and simple, exact instructions are given. No dressmaking experience is necessary to make this model with our pattern.

GOVERNOR SHUTS DOWN OIL WELLS

Plan to Halt Operations
Carried Out by Oklahoma Executive

(By Associated Press)
OKLAHOMA CITY, Aug. 5 —
Governor William H. "Alfalfa Bill" Murray has carried out a threat to shut down Oklahoma oil wells under martial law in an effort to increase prices for crude oil. He named the "supreme executive power of the state" as his authority.

National guardsmen, called out late yesterday, invaded the giant Oklahoma city oil field without appreciable opposition and headed toward new objectives. The governor's orders are to close all of the state's 3,106 wells that have a daily average production of 25 barrels or more.

The troops, under Adjutant General Charles F. Barrett and newly commissioned Lieut. Col.
Cicero I. Murray, the governor's cousin, prepared to go to the greater seminoe area today.

From that point the movement will spread to others of the 27 plush production oil pools affected by the executive order. Published reports were that more than 7,500 persons would be left jobless by the closing of the wells.

The order decreed that each well
should remain closed until purchasers agreed to pay a minimum of $1 per barrel at the wells. Fifty cents was the top yesterday.

THE MALTESE FALCON

At The Grand

"The Maltese Falcon," mystery drama starring Bebe Daniels, is now at the Grand theater.

Miss Daniels is vividly effective as Miss Wonderly, the strange and alluring adventuress, who keeps
not only the characters in the play, but audiences as well, guessing whether she is the leader of the weird crime ring, or the sinned-against victim of circumstances.
The doubtful heroine conquers all the men she meets except the one man who interests her—the head of a detective agency, who, while mistrusting her motives, feels the fascination of her personality.

Ricardo Cortez portrays the man in quest of—accomplishing the difficult feat of making a detective
like—and transforming the unsympathetic role into a forceful and believable one.

Una Merkel, Thelma Todd and Robert Elliott are also in the cast.

"THE MAGNIFICENT LIE"

At The State

Ruth Chatterton displays a new versatility in her role in "The Magnificent Lie" feature today at the State theater.

In a story that calls for a character of nerve and spirit which changes rapidly to almost tragic drama, Miss Chatterton is superb.

"The Magnificent Lie" gives its star everything she needs to portray a great character. Lightly she wagers that, in everything but appearance, she can impersonate
a French musical comedy actress, at the time the toast of New Orleans. Lightly she engages to win her wager by imposing on a sincere young lumberman who has preserved a love for the musical comedy actress since his younger days in Paris.

The game, lightly entered into,
develops into seriousness for Miss Chatterton. In spite of herself she falls in love with him, and then doesn't dare disillusion him.

Supporting Miss Chatterton is Ralph Bellamy, a young stage
star, who, makes his screen debut.
The enjoyable Stuart Erwin is none the less enjoyable in a role that calls for unlooked for dramatic talent.

Mullins Defeats Cigars To Remain In Fight For League Title

THE DAY In Sports

The Philadelphia Athletics, winners of two consecutive world championships and well on the road toward their third successive American League pennant, probably represent the most profitable investment ever made in the line of athletics.

Heaven only knows how much the Athletics have rewarded their owners since the start of the 1929 season, but, dollar for dollar, the investment made by Connie Mack and Co. stands for the acme of perfection in the sporting world.

It cost the owners of the Athletics exactly $400,000 in cash for the present team—one of the strongest baseball combinations of all time. And it is safe to say that the Athletics rewarded their owners with at least three times that much during their first championship season in 1929.

The greatest single investment of Mack and his cohorts is Robert Moses, known to most fans as "Lefty." The Philadelphia owners paid Baltimore of the International League exactly $100,000 for this king of southpaws, who began his major league career in 1925.

George Earnshaw, another of Mack's star pitching staff, reduced the coffers of the Athletics by $50,000. He also came from Baltimore. The third of the trio, Rube Walberg, was brought from the New York Giants at the waiver price of $7,500.

Mickey Cochrane, hailed as the greatest catcher since Roger Bresnahan, brought the Portland Pacific Coast League Club $50,000. Al Simmons also cost the Athletics $50,000, the check this time going to the Milwaukee Club of the American Association.

The other of Mack's "big six," Jimmy Fox, cost $2,500. That makes a total of $260,000 that was paid for Grove, Earnshaw, Walberg, Simmons, Cochrane and Fox.

There probably are plenty of major league magnates who would willingly part with $1,000,000 for any three of those six stars.

The lesser lights of the Athletics represent purchase tags ranging from the $50,000 paid for Max Bishop to the railroad ticket that Jimmy Dykes cost. Joe Boley cost $40,000 and Mule Haas $20,000. Bing Miller, the other regular, was obtained in a trade.

FOREMEN'S CLUB TOPS RIVALS IN THRILLING GAME

Watkins Edges Miller In Slab Duel; Score All Runs In Fifth

KIWANIANS BEAT BILLIARD COMBINE

Colonials Drop Back To Fifth Place In Loop; Two Games Today

The Mullins Foremen's club continued in the race for championship honors in the second half of the Salem Softball league, defeating the United Cigars in a sensational 2-2 game before approximately 1,000 fans at Centennial park field Tuesday.

Foremen's Club Advances
A game that was hard fought and as thrilling as any played this season, it advanced the Foremen's club into undisputed possession of second place in the municipal circuit, just a few percentage points back of the first place Salem China company. The Cigars dropped back into a tie for fourth with the Ohio Edison.

It was a hurling duel between Watkins of the Mullins and Miller, crack Cigar slasher, both pitching crack ball all the way. Each was given erratic support at times but fielding braced considerably in pinches, clean hits playing leading roles in runs scored by both outfits.

Miller Fans Seven
Miller whiffed seven batters but was hit for three runs—the Mullins' entire total in the fifth—while the Cigars registered seventh-inning spurt that fell short one run. Errors by "The Great" Dorchek, formerly one of the league's leading sluggers but who fanned each time he appeared at the plate against Miller—placed Cigar runners in position to score in two previous frames but Watkins squeezed through each without disaster.

The Kiwanis club pulled another of the upsets that have continually marked league activities, trouncing the Colonial Billiards, 7-5, in another thriller. The setback dropped the Colonials clear from third place to fifth and almost eliminates them from the titular race.

Two Games Today
The Billiards battle the Pottery at 5:45 today in a play-off of a tie game last week while the Cigars clash with the Salem Hardware to play off a postponed game at 6:45.

RISKO DEFEATS CHRISTNER IN ROUGH BATTLE

Cleveland Gives Akron Slugger Bad Beating; Gene Stanton Wins

(By Associated Press)

CLEVELAND, O., Aug. 5.—Johnny Risko, Cleveland heavyweight won a decision over K. O. Christner of Akron, in a 12-round bout that was rough and tumble in more ways than one last night.

The tumble came in the third round when the Akron rubber man pushed Risko out of the ring and fell on him.

Rough Throughout
The roughing was scattered throughout the battle.

It was a busy night for the referee. He pulled the scrappers out of wrestling clinches repeatedly, warned both about low blows, called Christner twice for heeling.

Risko was credited by the sports writers with winning 10 of the rounds.

Christner went to the floor three times but gamely weathered the storm. He first went down in the second round when a left to the body caught him off balance. He slipped to the canvas again in the ninth, and from weariness made a final drop for a brief count in the eleventh.

Loses Two Teeth
In addition, the Akronite lost a pair of teeth in the fourth when Risko changed from a body attack to an assault on Christner's head and chin.

Gene Stanton, Cleveland heavyweight, won a technical knockout over Tiny Powell, of Akron in the sixth round of the eighth round semi-final. The referee stopped the fight at the request of Powell's seconds, to prevent further damage.

Penn Football Pays
STATE COLLEGE, Pa.—Every man on the 1931 football team at Pennsylvania State College will be paying his own way through college, all "subsidy" players having been graduated last June, the college officials report.

The "subsidy" took the form of athletic scholarships issued to deserving and usually athletic young men. The system was discontinued several years ago with those in force being permitted to continue until the recipient had been graduated. The last of the scholarship holders went out with the 1931 class, the report from the college said.

NEW BERN, N. C.—Several chickens recently disappeared from a chicken coop at the home of A. S. Johnson here. The culprit turned out to be Johnson's tabby cat, whom neighbors saw climb up on the coop, unlatch the catch and remove a nice frier hen.

Ellsworth Vines, of California, is shown with the coveted Sea Bright Tennis Cup, which he won after a hard-fought court duel with John Hope Doeg, national tennis champion. HENDRICKS, FLOWERS WIN REGULAR POSTS; RELEASED BY ROBINS

One of the big problems in Major League baseball is found in the "mist" players—men who don't do well with one team or have no real place on it but often become great players when sent to another club.

Castoffs Came Through
Two Brooklyn castoffs, Harvey Hendrick and Jake Flowers, who were merely good but not particularly useful utility players with the Robins, have attracted a wide attention this season by their performances since being traded. Hendrick, a regular with Cincinnati, is one of the National League's leading batters and Flowers, sent

HOME-MAKING HELPS

By Wanda Barton

"I could spend most of my week's allowance on little ten-cent gadgets," admitted Peggy mournfully surveying a considerable collection of metal objects that hung suspended from her kitchen shelves. All sorts of edged, prolonged and hooked devices, curved disks and scoops, long-handled tools, that excited curiosity and were apparently useful in demonstration. The question arose, however, were they used? Little tools must be selected with probable use in mind, otherwise the kitchen can soon become a miniature hardware store, all cluttered with bits of equipment that are idle. If they only remained in their original state, perhaps they wouldn't be troublesome, but tools must be kept clean and bright, used or not, and the unused tool may cause just as much work as the other kind.

They Must Be Good

If, however, there is considerable use in store, then even the little tool should be of good quality. Ice picks and chippers and shavers that are on the job many times each day should be well-made so that there are no accidents possible from slipping handles. Bottle openers that are just bottle openers—not part of a three-in-one tool will be found more convenient. There are, too, several kinds of bottle accessories that will help in the matter of keeping drinks in good condition. A rubber cork that can be inserted in the opened, but unfinished bottle of ginger ale will keep that beverage in its fresh and fizzy state for the next service. The metal milk bottle cap which can be slipped over the bottle easily, and has a sliding section from which milk can be poured, is a saver of time and temper over the cardboard top which needs a tool for each opening—or there's a chance of pushing the cardboard in

John D. in Home-Like Role

IT IS A FACT

That oil has been selling far beyond its value. Follow the crowds and buy your oil in bulk at wholesale prices.

Flower of Thorns

By Marie Conway Oemler

SYNOPSIS

Sally Rutherford, the last member of an old southern family, lived with her grandparents at Oakleigh plantation, the heart of the Rutherford family pride. The Rutherford ladies "didn't know" the Winsteads of carpetbagging stock, whose estate adjoined Oakleigh. Samuel Forman Winstead is the only son and heir of his father, Henry Winstead, town banker.

INSTALLMENT 2

Sam was sent to a boys' school in Charleston, an old school where he wore a uniform and was under military discipline, which taught him that virtue most sadly needed by American youth—obedience. The manly, generous, athletic youngster was greatly liked by the mothers, aunts, cousins, and sisters of his classmates. They thought him a charming boy and made much of him.

Henry Winstead had always let Sam follow his own bent, and Sam emerged from prep with his own ideas of education and business and what he wanted in the way of both. He wished to study agriculture, and animal husbandry and agronomy and economics and such like. He chose to go to friendly and democratic Virginia Tech. Then he traveled over the western United States, Canada, and Europe, studying, observing, and learning. He was young, intelligent, trained, ambitious, and had enough money. He had planned his work. Now he was ready to work his plan.

"Our place is eating its head off," he said to his father as they sat smoking after dinner one night a few weeks after his return. "I've been looking things over, and I find we've got some mighty fine land lying fallow—just the sort of land I'd buy—if I had to buy land. I want to put that land under the plow."

His father studied the cigar he held in his fingers. After a somewhat lengthy pause, he said wisely:

"You really mean that, son? I'd hoped you'd come in the bank with me. In a little while you'd know the business. You'd be very influential, Sam, if you'd come in the bank and allow yourself to be—ah—guided by me for a while. Ah—hah. To train you to step into my shoes would be a very real happiness. After all, you're my only son."

Today's Pattern

REPEATING CLEVER DETAILS Pattern 2174

The smartest feature of a cleverly designed frock is made doubly smart by repetition. The shoulder yoke that suggests a tiny bolero is cut square in the front and trimmed with buttons, and is straight in the back. On the skirt the same lines are repeated. Pattern 2174 is typical of the frocks being worn at the smart resorts as an all-day frock in crisp linen, cotton or shantung, or in flat crepe. It is charming, too, accompanied by a jacket to form an ensemble.

Obtainable only in sizes 14, 16, 18, 20, 22, 24, 26, 28, 30, 32, 34, 36, 38, 40 and 42. Size 14 requires 3 7/8 yards of 36 inch material. Yardage for every size, and simple, exact instructions are given. No dressmaking experience is necessary to make this model with our pattern.

"I don't know the Winsteads."

Sam shook his head. "Dad, I'm sorry," he said regretfully. "We may as well settle the question once for all. I've told you all along that the only bank I'll ever give a hang for is a sand bank—with grass or clover on it preferably. You're a financier, but I'm an agriculturist—a farmer, if you like. I'm horns and hoofs by instinct."

"You like stocks," he went on. "I prefer stock, blooded stock, the best breed; that's the only sort of stock I'd have. The sort I mean to have. Dad, I'm going to start in and build up the best herd in the state. I'm going to have a model dairy farm, and incidentally, I mean to teach this countryside what a thoroughbred herd, scientifically handled, means to it. I shall plant my own food and forage crops, naturally. Also, I mean to have prize poultry. I shall have the best help obtainable—trained men."

"It's as good a way as any I know to lose a lot of money," said Henry unemotionally, "but you must do as you think best. I have made it a rule never to interfere. I have never tried to coerce or even to influence you unduly. I hoped—but then you are different. Sam, as your mother was—different." He lifted his kind eyes. "Besides, I couldn't very well interfere even if I wanted to, which I don't. You are of age, and thanks to your grandmother you are independent."

He had so wanted Sam to come into the bank with him! But what ever Sam really wanted! His place was to stand by and be ready, if necessary, to help. The boy saw the struggle, the surrender and he cast upon his father a glance of affection and understanding—just as Katie had looked at him, so long ago. Sam said quietly:

"What I want to do first is to turn a lot of our fallow land under the plow. Crops. Forage. Pasture. Then for the stock—the best stock I can buy, nothing but the best. I mean to have a model place. I mean to supply town and county with pure milk, fine butter, fresh eggs. My cows will be champion milkers and butter producers; my hens will be champion layers."

"Go ahead and do what you please, son. It's your money you're spending, not mine," said Henry. "You'd have a better social standing and less physical labor, though, if you'd chosen my bank. What will all your college friends say—what d'ye think our neighbors, the Rutherford, will say  to the milkman? They'll say you've gone back to the Pennsylvania Dutch you started from." Henry, it will be remembered, had been born and reared in South Carolina.

"Yeah? They can all say what they dam please, so long as they say they'll patronize the Winstead dairy products because they're the best on the market. Don't you worry about my college friends—they're good sports. As for the Rutherford, I never knew they knew we were neighbors of theirs."

"I knew Col. Rutherford very well," said Henry. He spoke defensively. You saw that Henry admired the colonel.

"And you like him? I mean, aside from admiring his appearance?" asked Sam idly. "I have found him a very fine man, though a worse head for business I have never seen. Aside from having no business sense whatever, he's all right—indeed, he is very likeable," said Henry. He disliked to have any one know that he secretly admired Col. Rutherford extravagantly, looked up to him, maybe even envied him a little, wistfully.

"Why don't you advise him to leave his ornamental head home during office hours?" asked Sam with youth's gay disrespect. "I have strongly advised him against certain investments—I considered them unsound. On one or two occasions I have strained a point and begged him to avoid them, unless he could afford to lose a great deal of money without being injured—and I know he can't do that."

"Good Samaritan! Did the old boy let you?" "Col. Rutherford is very self-willed. I might almost say he is incapable of accepting advice that is contrary to his own wishes. Several times, for instance, I advised him against mortgaging Oakleigh so heavily. At least, one of his legal friends, learning something of his affairs—Sinclair—agreed with me. But Col. Rutherford was bent upon having his own way."

"So the old place is mortgaged! Too bad! Do you hold the mortgage, dad?"

"If I didn't, somebody else would," said Henry matter of factly. "I met his wishes, with Oakleigh as security, though I advised him against such a course. He wouldn't listen. Of course he lost. He has had to borrow repeatedly. As things are now, the place is carrying all he can stagger under."

"I certainly hope you lose the bet, dad," said Sam. "I'd hate to see
